Delaware Shakespeare Festival presents Macbeth

WILMINGTON, DE (June 28, 2010) – “Something wicked this way comes...” The Delaware Shakespeare Festival gears up for its 8th annual summer production: Macbeth - A harrowing tale of ambition, greed, and vengeance. Returning to the director’s helm this year is Festival founder and Artistic Director, Molly Cahill Govern.

Macbeth will be presented at Rockwood Park in Wilmington, DE from July 16th through July 31st. Performances will begin 7:30 pm on Wednesday through Saturday and 6:00 pm on Sunday. As always, patrons are encouraged to bring food and beverage, and to arrive early for pre-show entertainment. Don’t feel like bringing your own food? Pre-order your own gourmet box meal from The Greenery! See website for menu and further details.

Tickets are $12 for adults, $10 for students, military and seniors. Admission is FREE for kids 5 and under. On Sundays (Family Days), admission is FREE for kids 10 and under, with paid adult admission. Group rates are available, contact groupsales@delshakes.org.

Founded in 2003, the Delaware Shakespeare Festival is a non-profit organization presenting professional theatre and educational programs to further the understanding and appreciation of Shakespeare’s works for the residents of the Delaware Valley.
