2009: A Great Year for DSF!

January is a time to look back and look ahead. Last year was a big success for the company. Here are a few reminders of the great things that happened at the Delaware Shakespeare Festival in 2009.

- 75 at-risk youth received visits from artist/scholars and were treated to a picnic dinner and performance of Twelfth Night with a post-show, up-close-and-personal chat with actors.
- Over 250 teenagers in classrooms throughout the state discovered exciting new ways to experience classic dramatic literature.
- Nearly 3,000 Delaware Valley residents, including more than 400 children, enjoyed Shakespeare under the stars at a very affordable price, despite rather uncooperative weather!

All this and more happened thanks to friends like you, our many playbill advertisers, and these generous community partners:

New Castle County DuPont Company
Delaware Division of the Arts Delaware's Family Court Judges
Delaware Humanities Forum Delmarva Power

This year marks the Delaware Shakespeare Festival's 8th year of presenting professional outdoor theatre for residents of the Delaware Valley. DSF is dedicated to making Shakespeare's works accessible, affordable, and enjoyable for everyone through enlightening productions, in-school programs, at-risk youth services, and enrichment activities.

We'll see you at Macbeth this summer!
